

Coronavirus case reported at City National 2Cal (March 18, 2020)

- Property Management at City National 2Cal has informed the Consulate General of Japan in Los Angeles that an employee of one of the tenants in the building has been diagnosed with the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) and may have been contagious while on property. The individual, who worked on a different floor from the Consulate General, is being quarantined at home, and their employer is working with health officials on appropriate next steps. The individual was last in the building/on property on March 5th.
- The building's Property Management has implemented measures including a disinfectant wipe down and deep clean of all common areas that the employee may have passed through while at the building.
- The individual is NOT reported to have visited the 17th Floor, but as a precaution we have disinfected the Consulate General's waiting area.
- To limit the risk of spreading COVID-19 infection, we respectfully ask all visitors with consular-related matters that are not urgent in nature to delay their visit to the Consulate General until a later time, if at all possible.
- Given the current situation regarding the COVID-19 outbreak, the Consulate General is weighing plans to modify some duties, including shortening consular window hours. Details will be forthcoming when they are finalized. We kindly ask for your cooperation and understanding.
